Entrepreneurship

Olin College of Engineering, located in the greater Boston area in Needham, MA, seeks enthusiastic applicants for faculty positions in entrepreneurship, broadly defined. Applications for all ranks, and both full- and part-time positions, will be considered. Olin is committed to an inclusive and diverse environment, and we strongly encourage individuals from historically underrepresented communities and women to apply.

Unlocks the Ability

Olin College is a highly selective, gender-balanced undergraduate engineering college, which was founded in 1998 with goals to develop students as exemplary engineers, to drive positive change in engineering education, and to do good throughout the world. Towards these goals, we have developed an innovative approach to engineering that erases boundaries between disciplines, encourages students to take control of their learning, and emphasizes human-centered design and entrepreneurship. We have forged active partnerships with neighboring Babson and Wellesley Colleges and have co-developed transformative educational experiences with collaborators around the globe. We are thrilled to grow our faculty team as we continue to innovate within and outside of Olin.

to Dream and Deliver

We believe that engineering should empower students to both imagine and realize positive change in the world. To do this, students need a holistic engineering education that fosters an entrepreneurial mindset. If you are passionate about enabling students to turn their dreams into actions or to become agents of change within enterprises both big and small, collaborate with us to help our motivated and engaged students transform ideas into impact.

Whether you are an academic or an active practitioner, if you hold a relevant advanced degree or have years of experience developing ventures and those who venture, we would love to hear from you. We encourage applicants to apply by December 5, 2016, and applications will be considered as they are received. Please see www.olin.edu/search for information on the application process.

Olin College is an Equal Opportunity Employer. We specifically invite applicants who can contribute to a diverse, inclusive community.
